ABOUT THE MANHEIM TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DISTRICT

The Manheim Township School District extends over 24 square miles and serves a community of approximately 44,000 citizens in 16,000+ residential dwellings, with 27 percent of these households having children. MTSD is a diverse school district in Lancaster County with over 800 employees who care for approximately 6,000 students in grades K-12. The district addresses our students' needs by providing educational services in one high school (grades 9-12), one middle school (grades 7-8), one intermediate school (grades 5-6), and six elementary schools (grades K-4). The district also offers a virtual academy for students in grades K-12 -- the Manheim Township Virtual Academy (MTVA).

- Stimulates curiosity and creativity
- Promotes personal integrity
- Encourages good citizenship

Educational Value Statements

Students

When provided with the question, "What is the expectation for you to help the school district successfully attain the mission and vision?" students provided the following responses:

- Students do try to put effort into the improvement of their own education and want others to benefit from our education as well.
- All of the stakeholder groups need encouragement to get involved in activities to help the district achieve its mission.
- When there are committees or other similar types of planning groups, the meetings should be Interactive and give opportunities for students to talk and be involved.
- Students can have an active role in the development of the district planning.
- When students feel as if they are active members of committees that ask everyone to talk about issues affecting the district, they will offer meaningful information that truly contributes to the final outcomes -- which will be positive!
- The school district should promote the notion that ALL students are welcome to participate -- not just those who are involved in current leadership roles and advanced coursework.
- When students are part of the planning and execution of a project, they will get to own the successes, triumphs, and even the failures.
- Having students involved in the discussion about how to attain the mission and vision will bring productive relationships within/among all stakeholder groups.
- Students can "show up and be open to sharing and hearing ideas."
- Students should feel as if they can take risks, possibly fail, and it's OK -- this approach will help MT achieve their mission and vision.
- Students need to "Know their WHY (understand their purpose);" and hear the "WHY" from the other stakeholder groups.

Staff

When provided with the question, "What is the expectation for you to help the school district successfully attain the mission and vision?" staff provided the following responses:

- Promote opportunities for staff and students to get involved in all aspects of the district.
- Encourage proactive involvement from all stakeholder groups.
- Develop interactions with community.
- Develop those programs and opportunities for students that promote equitable opportunities.
- Set realistic goals and recognize when small achievements are made.
- Provide concise and accurate communication; succinct communication is easier to understand.
- Create a positive culture among all stakeholder groups. --Include student voices in the planning and arrangement of feedback loops (span beyond just "student council").
- Expand the definition of what is considered "success" (it's not just grades).

- Focus on Pathways to Success: define the field of options/opportunities as varied - it's not "one way" (upper-level classes, and then college)...there are many "mountain tops"....we don't need to push/point all kids toward one "mountaintop."
- Give students the DESIRE to come to school...make them "want" to come to us (to learn, participate, compete, perform, engage, relate, etc..).

Administration

When provided with the question, "What is the expectation for you to help the school district successfully attain the mission and vision?" the administrators provided the following responses:

- Need to accomplish all of this in a cost-conscious manner - noting that 70% of our community does not send kids to our schools.
- Develop a workforce in our schools that is representative of our student population (in terms of ethnicity).
- Leading with authenticity should be the foundation of our work.
- Place a strong focus on building relationships in order to establish a nurturing and challenging learning community (key components of our mission and vision).
- Finding ways to nurture growth can be challenging, but it must happen at the staff level.
- Share that everyone plays a role in creating a nurturing and challenging learning environment for students and help them understand the significance of their individual role.
- Support a culture of modeling in terms of setting expectations -- and a willingness to give and receive.
- Reinforce the need to maintain a growth mindset.
- Create an opportunity for diverse student perspectives (use unconventional methods) --Foster student voice, enhancing voice and listening to underrepresented voices.
- Establish student check-ins for ALL!

Parents

When provided with the question, "What is the expectation for you to help the school district successfully attain the mission and vision?" parents and community members provided the following responses:

- Provide opportunities for students to understand and know your purpose.
- Create opportunities for establishing meaningful, reliable communication about how everyone plays a role in the betterment of the district.
- Identify disparities among families in different school communities.
- Show parents that the schools are welcoming to ALL; provide ways for interested parents to get involved.
- Teach parents how to access important information about their students -- ex. how to use Sapphire, access the grade book, etc.
- Provide communication/letters in the languages preferred by families -- to make them feel welcome and obtain important information.
- Lean into and remember the same goal of ultimately wanting "all students to succeed."
- Focus on the broad spectrum of values that specifically relates to different groups of stakeholders.
- Focus on the need for social emotional wellness and mental health.
- Check in with students to see how they are feeling.

- Ensure that there are processes in place to support student learning (problem-solving skills), particularly students who are struggling.
- Create an environment where new families and students feel welcomed to the school and community.

Community

The community members were grouped with the parents on the planning committee; their responses are included in the "Parents" section above.
